

Police Information Portal

online training course

The Police Information Portal (PIP) is a component of the National Integrated Interagency Information (N-III) system, a groundbreaking information sharing initiative for police, public safety, and federal agencies across Canada. Accessed through CPIC and managed by the RCMP, PIP is a searchable index of all police agency Record Management Systems across the country and is an important means of gathering information during serial predator investigations, organized crime investigations, and investigations where the subject moves from one jurisdiction to another. By providing access to better information, PIP not only benefits all police officers, but also the communities they serve.

The ability of officers to fully and correctly utilize PIP is essential to maximizing the benefits and efficiency of this tool. Designed for frontline personnel, this course provides information on using PIP, policy issues, proper use instructions, and quality of information issues that will provide police services across the country with better information.
